A top-down view of a rustic wooden cutting board. On the board are several tropical fruits: a whole pink dragon fruit with green scales, several slices of dragon fruit showing white flesh with black seeds and pink rinds, a large mango cut into a grid pattern, several triangular slices of pineapple, and two halves of coconuts showing the white flesh. Fresh green mint leaves are scattered throughout the arrangement.

KEY FRESH FRUITS

Golden Green Services develops and exports a diverse range of fresh Vietnamese fruits, with mangoes and dragon fruit as our two key product lines. We offer a wide variety of mango and dragon fruit varieties, with diverse options in terms of types, sizes, colors, and specifications to meet the flexible requirements of different markets and customers.

In addition to our two core product lines, we also supply other fresh fruits such as bananas, pineapples, guavas, coconuts, and pomelos, creating a diverse product portfolio and flexible supply options. With experience in agricultural exports, Golden Green Services focuses on building a stable supply, consistent quality, and flexible specifications, working closely with importers, distributors, and retail chains across international markets.

DRIED FRUIT

Golden Green Services develops a diverse range of dried fruit products made from carefully selected Vietnamese fruits, including freeze-dried, soft-dried, and traditionally dried products. Each processing method is carefully controlled to preserve the fruit's natural flavor, color, texture, and nutritional value while ensuring consistent quality and suitable shelf life.

We combine modern processing techniques with strict quality control to create convenient, flavorful, and reliable dried fruit products that meet the diverse needs of customers and international markets.

FREEZE-DRYING

Freeze-drying is an advanced processing method that helps preserve the fruit's natural color, shape, flavor, and texture. The products are lightweight and convenient to store and transport, making them suitable for snacks and food ingredients.

CRISPY DRIED FRUIT

The crispy drying process removes moisture from the fruit, creating a light, crispy texture while preserving its natural flavor. The products are convenient for storage and transportation, making them ideal for direct consumption as snacks or for use as ingredients in confectionery and food processing.

SOFT-DRYING

Freeze-drying is an advanced processing method that helps preserve the fruit's natural color, shape, flavor, and texture. The products are lightweight and convenient to store and transport, making them suitable for snacks and food ingredients.
